Trustees Discuss City Betterment

With all its members present, this year's first meeting of the Carmel Board of Trustees was held on Wednesday evening of last week.

A gratifying report was that of Taxcollector Englund. The amount of city taxes collected shows a delinquency of only 14 per cent. A good record for the first year under incorporation.

Only a short time was taken up in disposing of the routine business, after which there was a general discussion of plans for city betterment.

There is a feeling that the matter of providing better streets and roadways within the corporation must be gone through with, and in this connection there is an evident desire on the part of the entire board to include much-needed sewer construction.

It is probable that a new method of making and equalizing realty valuations will be adopted this year. To put it plainly, the present assessed valuations are too low. No one owning lots in Carmel would think of disposing of them at anywhere near their present assessed valuation. Therefore, it would appear that the thing to do is to increase the valuation and reduce the rate.

The State Housing Act has numerous requirements for the safeguarding of life and property, which the trustees will be obliged to enforce.

WEEKLY GREETING

We are children of a large family, and must learn, as such children do, not to expect that our hurts will be made much of—to be content with little nurture and caressing and help each other the more.—George Eliot.

Oriental Economy

It is said the Japanese are not going to allow the showing of motion pictures that might cultivate in the youth a spirit of destructiveness.

This precaution is in accord with the genius of the little brown people. A trade note illustrates it anew..

Japanese merchants, instead of throwing away cans which contained American oil, fill them with native vegetable oils and send them back here, and it is reported that they are then returned to Japan, to be used in the manufacture of toys, case linings, dustpans, etc.

Years ago travelers in Japan could not help but feel that the people were extremely petty, living a life as miniature as their "pinched-back" gardens; but that attitude has been shaken by the great strides the Oriental power has made.

Americans are being urged to practice something of the frugality of the Japanese, and it wouldn't debase them a bit to respond whole-heartedly.

A Jewish republic in Palestine, following the British occupation, is a proposal that we read much about nowadays.

It will never be successful. It is merely a sentimental dream, and the statesmen who are apparently promoting the scheme know it.

Can anyone imagine the American Jew, the German Jew, the Polish Jew, etc. living and governing together in accord.

If you read it in the Pine Cone you may safely repeat it.

Critics as Playwrights

That Oliver Morosco takes little or no stock in the traditional belief that dramatic critics cannot write a producable play, has recently been demonstrated by his acceptance of two such plays.

The critics, whose works are to be produced, are Ashton Stevens, formerly of San Francisco and now of Chicago, and Alan Dale of New York. The title of Stevens' play is "Mary's Way Out," and Dale's is called "The Madonna of the Future." Both are comedies.

Our Weekly Recipe

Ham and Chicken Pie

Line a deep dish with a good pie crust. Spred a layer of thin sliced boiled ham next the crust; then place pieces of the chicken upon the ham. Proceed in this manner until materials are used; then pour in sufficient chicken gravy to avoid dryness. Cover with a rich substantial crust, and bake about an hour.

Provisions of the Rominger Bill

In response to the requests of several subscribers. the Pine Cone herewith presents a concisestatement of the provisions of the Rominger bill, to be voted on next November.

The proposed measure abolishes the saloon and barroom whereever locatee, prevents the sale of such drinks as whisky, brandy and gin for beverage purposes, allows hotels, restaurants and clubs to serve fermented liquors, such as beer and light dry wines at the table, in sealed packages with a bona fide meal.

These fermented liquors can be served only in a public room or public place, no booths or boxes being permitted. Alcoholic contents is limited to 14 per cent. No bottled cocktails or sweet wines or other liquors containing distilled spirits are allowed.

Sale is limited to the hours between noon and midnight. The vinous and malt liquors may be served in one's home.

Those portions of the State that are now dry will remain so in the event that the measure is adopted.

THE HIGHLANDS

The following lines were read Dr. V. O. Whitcomb, at the Arts and Crafts breakfast at Highlands Inn on New Year's Day:

I never knew a rugged grove;
I never saw a "Poet's Cove,"
Nor vision fairer,
Sunset fairer,
Than at the Highlands.

I never knew a mountain blue
To fade into a purple hue,
Then winey red,
Then go to bed,
Gray, like the Highlands

The pines, they form this crowning wreath,
With oak and lilac underneath—
With lure as strong
As siren song—
Come to the Highland.

Interesting Happenings

A naval officer on leave reports that his last information concerning the "Pittsburg"—Herbert Hand's ship, she was convoying troopships from New Zealand to France.

Acknowledgements are being received from soldiers in various parts of the country for Christmas packages sent them by the local Red Cross. The letters are interesting.

To add interest to your letter about Carmel, enclose a copy of the Pine Cone. It will not increase the postage.

Local dog licenses are due again. New tags, of a different shap than those aow in use, will be issued by the city marshal.

$547.90 is the total amount of delinquent Carmel-by-the-Sea city taxes. Up to January 23, taxes, with ten per cent added, may be paid. After that date 75 cents more will be required to pay expenses of publication.

Mary Austin's Play Pleases Big Audience

After all, in dramatic presentation, the main idea is to get the story "over." And that is what the earnest little group of players, under Mrs. M. E. Hand's direction, accomplished with Mrs. Mary Austin's "The Man Who Didn't Believe in Christmas," at Arts and Crafts Hall last Friday night.

In most cases the folks who attend these occasional dramatic affairs go to be amused or entertained, not to criticize, but to commend.

"Daddy Hardman" Kibbler is to be commended for his dignified performance. The "Mammy Delia" of Mrs. Yard, gave splendid opportunity for the lady to pronounce correct Negro dialect. Franklin Murphy was a very real martyr, only he didn't die for the cause.

All the story-book characters showed a fine conception of what they were supposed to be and do, and helped much in bringing the pley to its satisfactory climax.

Another Fish Story

Moss Landing seems to have considerable attraction for Henry Laronette and Bob Duriee. Last Sunday afternoon Henry and his family, the tin Lizzie, and Bob, who went along as ballast, again made a trip to the Landing, Henry to try out the new nets, and Bob on the outlook for more big fish.

Otto Roehling and Henry got a half sack of perch shiners. Duriee really did catch a large fish—a four foot leopard shark—but that put the hoodoo on him for the rest of the day. Bob came home sans fish, because, Henry alleges, he failed to attach "fish coaxer" on his line. Next time they go out, Henry will give Bob instruction in clam digging.

State License Required

J. W. Hand, Mrs. R. J. De Yoe, and the Carmel Development Co. have taken out their realty dealers' license.

No person, firm or corporation buying, selling, leasing, renting property other than their own, can, under the new law, engage in this business unless they have this license.

A heavy penalty is provided for the violation of any of the provisions of this act of the last Legislature.

Income Tax Report

Those who did not file a statement of their incomes with the deputy internal revenue collector at Monterey, have until March 1 to file a statement in San Francisco.
